100,000 Homeless As Floods Sweep Mississippi Valley Area

(By Universal Service)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—Hundreds of lives are endangered by the great flood sweeping down the Mississippi valley, relief workers admitted tonight. For the first time since the floods began, recognition was given to the fact that this is now a battle of life and death.
The flood increased today. The stanchest levees began to weaken. Serious breaks occurred, any one of which would be given great prominence at ordinary times. But now they stand as only incidental to the great disaster.
The homeless is estimated at between 75,000 and 100,000 and growing hourly.
Death confronts hundreds of families who have persisted in clinging to their homes in the face of the encroaching water. Red Cross workers fear overcrowding. The present flood is fast exceeding anything ever known.

WORK TO START PETTING BANDIT ON SAN PABLO ON TRIAL HERE

The California Construction company is now assembling equipment preparatory to beginning work on paving San Pablo avenue from Macdonald avenue northward to the city limits. It is believed that work will start next week.
In order that street car service and highway traffic shall not be interfered with it is planned to tear up the eastern half of the street after paving of the entire western side is finished. Traffic will not be detoured under this plan except during the paving of a small piece just south of Macdonald avenue.
With the western side of the street paved, the Key System Transit company will tear up the old paved strip in the center and lay its car rails. Paving will then be completed on the eastern side of the street.

PROPOSED TOLL SPAN TO LINK RICHMOND AND MARIN COUNTY

Petition To Be Filed By Van Damme, Associates in Early June

Monday, the 21st day of June, 1927, the Richmond San Rafael Ferry and Transportation company, will apply to the board of supervisors for a franchise to build a bridge connecting Richmond with the Marin county shore.
The proposed bridge is to be located across San Francisco bay from a point at or near Castro point, commencing near Station 239 on the exterior boundary of the Rancho San Pablo, and running thence in a general northerly direction 17,730 lineal feet, more or less, to a point in Marin County, known and designated as Point San Quentin.
The length of the proposed bridge is approximately three and one third miles and the width of roughly the proposed bridge is approximately twenty feet.
This means that the supervisors will be asked at their meeting Monday to continue the bridge hearing to a future date, so that all data concerning the two applications can be gone into, and the members placed in a position where they can act intelligently.
Charles Van Damme, the president of the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry and Transportation company was a visitor to Richmond yesterday afternoon and verified the rumor that his company was to apply for a franchise for a toll bridge.
"We believe we are entitled to have the franchise granted to us," said Van Damme, "because we have pioneered the transportation (Continued on Page 8)

Fenner Rapidly Gaining Strength In Candidacy For Councilman

VIRGIL A. FENNER, of 198 Cottage avenue, probably occupies the most unique position of any candidate in the present municipal campaign. He has never been an office seeking man, has never before been a candidate for office, and would not be a candidate now, but for the fact that people in all parts of the city convinced him that he owed a duty to the public and that was to consent to allow his name to be presented as one of the candidates for the office of councilman.
Notwithstanding his retiring disposition, Fenner has always been a close student of civic affairs, and his strong idea is that the business of the people should be conducted, and carried on in the same careful manner, that an individual looks after his private business. He believes the city should receive a dollar in value for every dollar expended.
Fenner has been a resident of the City of Richmond for the past twenty three years, and during that entire time has been in the hardware business on the westside. The conduct of his business has been a marked success, and the people of the city who urged him to enter the race, feel convinced that his experience as a business man gained through years, will be invaluable in the conduct of the business of Richmond.
Fenner is a family man, has the respect and esteem of every one of the westside, where he is intimately known for his sterling worth, is a member of the Elks and the Woodmen of the World.
From current reports he is daily gaining strength, and his friends predict that he will stand at the top at the primary election to be held next Monday.

3 ARE RESCUED, $12,000 SMACK LOST IN CRASH

Cargo of 10,000 Pounds Of Shad, Value Set at $800, Sunk With Boat

Captain Vincent Cardinelli, of the 55 foot fishing boat, Notre Dame D'Atrique, and three of his crew narrowly escaped death from drowning yesterday morning, when their vessel was run down and sunk just off Point San Pablo by a liner believed to be the Mail operated by the Matson Navigation company.

At the time of the accident the motor launch Providencia had tied up to the Notre Dame, which was acting as mothership for the fleet of fishing boats in San Pablo bay. Without warning, Captain Cardinelli, reported the big liner bore down upon them. The Providencia quickly cast off lines, and the two boats drifted apart. The Notre Dame was struck amidships, four of her ribs crushed in.

Although it was apparent that the boat was sinking rapidly captain and crew climbed on the water from force of the impact, and starting the engines steered for shore. The smack sank within a short distance of the beach in about 15 feet of water. The nose of the boat was still visible after it went under the water.
The Providencia rescued Captain Cardinelli and his crew.

The Notre Dame was under charter to A. P. Paladini and company and officials of the company estimated the loss at $12,000 for the boat and $800 for the cargo, which was made up of 10,000 pounds of shad.

Officials of the California-Hawaiian Sugar company of Crockett denied knowledge of the crash. The Maui reach port a short time after noon. Officers of the boat admitted that there had been an accident on the bay, but refused to make any further statement.

POWERS SPLIT OVER ACTION IN CHINESE CRISIS

Friendly Attitude Toward Rival Chinese Factions To Be Assumed by U.S.

(By WILLIAM F. FLYTHE, (By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, April 21.—The United States has declined to enforce demands for reprisals and the exaction of sanctions for the Nanking outrages, it was learned officially today.

Refusal of the United States to join the powers in a campaign to subdue and suppress the aspiration of China to become a sovereign nation appeared to be definite.
The idea now is to regain and keep the friendship which this country won by refusing to accept indemnities and concessions as a result of the Boxer rebellion.

It marks the first break in policy in dealing with the Chinese problem, and a complete reversal of policy as outlined in the recent identic note delivered to the Chen faction by the United States and the allies.

The new policy has caused a wide rift in the unity between this country and the four powers—just how wide no one at the White House or state department would discuss.

But regardless of what the four powers think, the United States is determined to act independently and to seek to revive the traditional friendship between the United States and China.

This does not mean that American warships and marines are to be withdrawn, but that they will (Continued on Page 5)

AUTOMOBILE FATALITIES

The Department of Commerce announces that during the four weeks ending March 26, 1927, automobile accidents were responsible for 441 deaths in 78 large cities of the United States. The majority of these deaths were the result of accidents which occurred within the corporate limits of the city, although some accidents occurred outside of the city limits. This number (441) compares with 347 deaths during the four weeks ending March 27, 1926.

Considering simply the number of deaths by four-week periods since May, 1925, the lowest total (347) appears for the four-week period ending March 27, 1926, and the highest (676) for the four week period ending November 6, 1926. The numbers in the 25 periods of four weeks were as follows:

Four Weeks Ending

Mar. 26, 1927-441 July 17, 1926-484 Dec. 5, 1926-625
Feb. 26, 1927-443 June 19, 1926-549 Nov. 7, 1925-612

Dec. 4, 1926-634 April 24, 1926-423 Sept. 12, 1925-521
Nov. 6, 1926-676 Mar. 27, 1926-347 Aug. 15, 1925-467

Sept. 11, 1926-560 Jan. 30, 1926-431 June 20, 1925-493
Aug. 14, 1926-497 Jan. 2, 1926-551 May 23, 1925-423

Five cities reported no automobile fatalities for the last four weeks, while fifteen cities reported no automobile fatalities for the corresponding period of 1926.

For the last four-week period reports have been received from 74 of the 78 cities as to whether the fatal automobile accidents occurred inside or outside city limits. In these 75 cities in this four-week period, the total number of automobile fatalities was 426, but only 386 of these were due to accidents within city limits.

The Relief of Sick Headaches

A fatish woman who happened to be a victim of migraine, migraine, hemicrania, periodic sick headache, "bilious headaches," or blind staggers, as it is variously called, had suffered attacks about every two weeks since she was 14 or 15 years old. After 20-years of it she was inoculated with the reducing bug, but she didn't try any phony gum or soap or mail order pills. She consulted her physician, and he gave her a regimen suitable for her condition. This consisted of reasonable restrictions in diet, a moderate amount of daily exercise. Well, she was an unusual sort of woman, for she stuck to this regimen and after a few weeks she began to notice a slight loss in weight. In the course of about six or seven months she lost about twenty pounds, which was enough. But at the same time she lost the knack of having biweekly migraine debauches, suffering only three or four seizures in the whole course of the reduction regimen and these, not severe enough to put her in bed.

No one can say positively that the reduction regimen relieved the sick headaches, for it is rather characteristic of the neurosis, migraine, to diminish in severity or to cease altogether around the half-century mark. But when a similar effect is observed in a number of cases in younger persons, then we may reasonably conclude that it is good for the migraine sufferer to stop overeating, if he or she is overnourished.

Another woman perhaps 45 years old consulted her physician for menorrhagia. She was not over-weight, but her physician recommended in her physical condition indications of deficient thyroid function. He accordingly prescribed a thyroid gland preparation, which proved beneficial. But this woman also happened to be an old migraine sufferer, and after a few weeks of thyroid treatment she reported that her sick headaches had been greatly benefited and now scarcely interfered with her business, whereas formerly she had spent one or two days in bed about every ten days or so. Other endocrine or ductless gland preparations are sometimes of great value in amelioration of migraine. Many physicians have reported gratifying results from treatment with pituitary gland hormone.

A business man (whose age I do not know) writes:

"About six years ago attacks became so frequent as to seriously interfere with my work and I was apparently headed for the junk heap. The doctors were unable to do anything for me and they gave me a pessimistic feeling about it. Then I ran across a little note in your column about the castor oil treatment. I began taking the castor oil, at first a teaspoonful or less before breakfast each morning, according to the effect—you said one should not take enough to keep the bowels lax. Now I keep a bottle on hand and take a fraction of a teaspoonful every few days. I believe it has lengthened by several years my ability to support my family, and it has enabled me to complete paying for my home—both of which looked very doubtful to me six years ago. When I take the oil now I take it just after breakfast, as the effect seems to be less marked."

So much for the castor oil treatment. I don't know how it acts. Certainly not because it physically succeeds. Demands had not, day over a period of months. Possibly there is some specific substance in castor oil. We know now, for instance, that a castor oil soap has some detoxifying action on bacterial toxins and it is used in scarlet fever immunizing toxin to make the reaction to this treatment milder.

Anyone who may wish to try the castor oil treatment of migraine may well begin with daily doses of 10 to 15 drops. The essential thing is to take as much castor oil as you can without inducing catharsis or even looseness of the bowels.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Daughter Gotta Goller.

I have a daughter 14 years old. She has a gotter. Please tell me what to do for it. (Mrs. G. P.)

Answer—I advise you to do nothing without the direction of your own physician. Your daughter needs careful medical treatment.

Emetic Wanted

Is there anything that can be done to make a person vomit? I was told once that there is something you can get, but I've forgotten the name and thought maybe you would know. (L. A. R.)

Answer—The old standard emetic for children with croup or other illnesses in which it may be desirable to induce vomiting, is syrup of ipecac, and the emetic dose for a baby or young child is a tablespoonful or sometimes less. This requires five, 10 or even 15 minutes to act. Much too slow in case of poisoning. For a first aid or emergency emetic in case of poisoning I think the best we have is one or two grains of copper sulphate given dissolved in a tablespoonful (half an ounce) of water. This usually acts almost instantly. In practice I carried some in my emergency kit and have often found it efficacious. Once one of my own babies managed to knock a vial of poison tablets out of the cabinet and broke it on the floor and proceeded to eat the poison. A dose of copper sulphate instantly emptied the child's stomach of the poison. That poison was corrosive sublimate (bichloride of mercury). Perhaps I am prejudiced against its use. Perhaps I am biased in favor of copper sulphate as an emetic. Dr. Abraham Jacob, the father of pediatrics, told me about copper sulphate as an emetic. Dr. Jacob knew his onions.

What Are You Driving At? Please tell me the treatment of arthritis and the cause of it. I would like to know if the kidneys are the cause of it. (Mrs. J. Q. M.)

Answer—Arthritis is a medical term meaning inflammation of a joint. There are many causes. I do not think the kidneys cause it, unless you mean a focus of infection in the kidney with a secondary arthritis.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if you send in ink and a stamp, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

Take It Off Or Leave It

"What's this thing good for anyway?" "What will I ever make of it?" "Is there anything else I can take that's a lot better for me?"

These were the questions fired at me when I taught Algebra. My tradition and oft repeated answers were: "Some day you will use it." "You need it to get into college." "You have to have it before you can study geometry." "The course of study contains it." "You cannot get a diploma without it." "It will train your mind."

One day I saw red. The questioning was getting tiresome. So I belittled "I don't know what it's good for to you, but I get $210 a month teaching it and therefore teaching it seems to be my only chance at a job."

The class roared. I had given myself away. Disaster was sure to follow. But no, the class settled back and did better work than ever. We had cleared the deck of hypocrisy.

What is a study good for? A fair question for any child to ask. He's paying the bills of time and energy and is entitled to know. It's poor business to put him off with academic camouflage.

Today I am going to be the Arthur Dean of school boy days. Are there any such today? Yes, millions of them. Here are things I wanted to say to teachers:

Arthur: "Why do like signs plus and unlike signs minus?"

Teacher: "Because that's the rule."

Arthur: "Why does one invert and proceed as in multiplication?"

Teacher: "Because that's the rule."

Arthur: "Why do you use letter X for unknown quantity? Why not use A, or B or M?"

Teacher: "All unknown quantities are designated X, Y, Z. All exponents by M, N, O, P. All coefficients by A, B, C, D."

Arthur: "Why?"

Teacher: "If you are such a fool as all that you don't belong in this class."

(Note—This teacher died in mid-term. 'Twas reported I had killed her.)

The new teacher was very young, very pretty, and very inexperienced. To her I passed on the last question as her rightful heritage.

New teacher: "If you want, Arthur, to use A, B, C, D, for unknown and X, Y, Z, for coefficients you may. It will be rather inconvenient for you and the rest of us to break this algebraic convention. But I am sure there isn't any objection."

That settled it. Some day, in the words of Professor Burr of Beloit College, "a pupil, a student and the teacher will mean comradeship in the pursuit of learning, not always the pursuit of the pupil by the teacher."

Continuing he says, "Go into a score of classes from the spelling book to geometry, and ask: 'What are you doing this for?' The answer will be: 'Because it is in the course.' Why do not teachers and learners find out what their study is for? The answer is, tradition. Never thought of it, yet how can teachers or pupils get anywhere without knowing where they are going?"

I agree.

Our Conversation Corner

Out of Luck

I like my boy friend but I think he is too much for kissing. Every time I go out with him he wants to be kissed. Also every boy who takes me home from a dance or movie wants a good night kiss before leaving. As I never kiss day, they go quite out of luck with me. Could you please tell me if I'm right or not, please?

Answer—You are a lucky girl. You must be very popular. So many girls tell me they lose the boys if they don't give them a good-night kiss. Most of that sort of boys are well worth losing. Isn't it pretty nifty of a fellow to want a second kiss in exchange for a twenty-five cent movie seat? Let me ask you a question: How much is a kiss worth?

The Kitchen Sink

Can a person do a number of things equally well? Or to succeed must he concentrate on one occupation to the exclusion of every other? I am supposed to have marked talent for music, but also I adore studying and designing clothes. Should I do the one and neglect the other?

Is it foolish for a girl with my interests to marry and throw away lovely music for the sake of old pots and pans that hum drum domesticity one find in married life?

—Seeking Light.

Answer—Choose either designing or music and then make your "side kick" the one that is left over.

The finest thing in life to design is not clothes, but life itself. If you think that music and art will forever give you permanent satisfaction, which rightfully belong to all and come to a few of us, then you may omit the pots and pans.

But many women have discovered that there can be lovely music in a home that has no musical instruments, and as much beauty as there is in any art, and that an efficient study of how to handle old pots and pans may reduce the household labor to a point where Art in Living becomes a science in itself.

The Marriage Game

As Played to a Decision Every Day By

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hutton

The Urge for a Child

HIS PLAY: It's a funny thing to me that there is such a thing as an orphan asylum. It's an old joke that a man wouldn't sell his child for a million dollars but that he wouldn't give two cents for another one just like him. But that's only a joke. I can't understand when there are so many childless couples in the world that there should be any need of ugly, lonely asylums where wonderful little human beings are packed away like so many shopworn articles of unwanted merchandise.

HER COUNTER-PLAY: Nor can I, my dear. After all, a home isn't much of a success unless there are children to give it the real atmosphere. Life doesn't amount to much if we are not giving our best efforts to the improvement of the race and the total lack of real responsibility that the man and woman without a child suffers must be terrible. I agree with you—I can see no need of asylums for little boys and girls who need at lot of loving and as much as childless couples need a lot of loving too. THE REFEREE: No argument—no decision necessary to fore leaving. As I never kiss day,

What Every Girl Should Know

"WHAT EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW," with Patsy Ruth Miller, in Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Sullivan—slender, beautiful, red-headed—is the meteor of the Garden City tennis tournament. A postcard, queerly spiritual girl is Mary, despite her physical prowess. She has grown up with tennis balls. Her mother died seeing them for a living, that Mary might be a lady. Her spirit lives on in Mary. Mary's impish brother, Robert, gets her acquainted with Wally Mason, a young man who has scathed the matches. Wally thinks Mary's address is due to tennis; but Mary, who habitually pretends to talk to her dead mother, knows who set her feet on mountain tops!

"Very kind of you to walk home with us, Mr. Mason," Wally Bob, beaming. "Very kind of you indeed."

Wally grinned and tossed the little chap's head.

"My head seems to have a sort of fascination for you, Mr. Mason," Wally asked Bob, looking up at his new friend.

"Well, yes," said Wally. "I think I'd call it that. A sort of fascination. Fact is, Robert, and he looks across Bob's head at Mary, 'fact is, that all—most red heads do have a fascination for me. Would you attribute it to the fact that mine own shock is so nondescript?'"

And he waited anxiously for young Robert's reply to that. "Should you attribute it to that?"

"I should think that would be highly probable, Mr. Mason."

"Oh, Bob, you funny infant!" The mischievous grin was back in Mary's eyes. "How mother would have loved you, young Robert!"

Dusk had sifted down, had settled gently on tree and walk when they stopped before the small green cottage at the end of the street. "This is home," said Robert. "Good-bye, Mr. Mason. They shook hands gravely. "I hope Mary will ask you to come again."

"Oh, Robert!"

"He does want to come, Mary. I know he does!"

MURDER COUNT FILED AGAINST SCREEN ACTOR

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—"We find that the deceased, Ray Raymond, came to his death as the result of blows received at the hands of Paul Kelly, during his fight, and we further find that Paul Kelly was the aggressor. We recommend that the matter be further investigated by the proper authorities."

That was the verdict of a coroner's inquest over the body of Ray Raymond, musical comedy star and husband of Dorothy Mackaye, prominent actress. Raymond died in the Queen of the Angels hospital here early Tuesday morning after a severe beating at the hands of Kelly, film juvenile.

Kelly was indicted for murder yesterday and arraigned today before Judge Charles S. Burnell. He was granted until next Monday to make his plea.

Dorothy Mackaye, who was to have been one of the chief witnesses at the inquest, had collapsed so completely after testifying before the grand jury yesterday that she was ordered by her physician to remain in bed. She had admitted, to the grand jurors, that she was in Kelly's apartment when he telephoned her husband he was coming over to settle this thing.

Identification of Raymond's body was made by Ethel Lee, negro maid in the Raymond home, where the first battle took place Saturday evening. She and Valeria Raymond, four-year-old daughter of the couple, were the only eye witnesses of the fatal combat. The maid testified that when Kelly struck Raymond, who had objected to his attentions to Miss Mackaye, the comedy star said:

"I'm too weak to fight you. I am a wreck."

Kelly weighs nearly 200 pounds and Raymond 135, testimony showed.

Disheveled and plainly nervous, Kelly was present at the inquest. He was surrounded by friends who tried to cheer him, but he was plainly struggling under great nervous tension. After his arraignment, he was taken to the county jail. No bail was set as he is charged with first degree murder.

Kerensky's Mash Notes Reveal Romance

(By Universal Service)

LEXINGBAD, April 21.—A safe full of "mash notes," addressed to Alexander Kerensky, found here reveals that the one-time revolutionary hero always had two minutes to spare to talk with the pretty college girls who besieged him.

Kerensky, now in exile, was the beloved of all classes during the first months of the revolution. He was particularly popular with the ladies, since in those days he was—as even his enemies the bolsheviks admit—"not bad to look at."

Most of the mash notes began—as is the fashion of such epistles—by telling Kerensky how much the writer loved and adored him, and begged for an opportunity to see him in private for only five, or even three minutes. Not quite able to resist the temptation the busy revolutionist wrote in a scrawling hand across the ardent notes: "Only two minutes' conversation."

The population of Wisconsin gained about one per cent in 1926, while the number of phones increased nearly four per cent.

Disabled Veterans Make 'Buddy Poppies' For Annual Vet Sale

BUDDY POPPY time is here again. Each week in government hospitals throughout the country thousands of the small memorial flowers are being made by America's disabled ex-servicemen to swell the total of the more than 3,000,000 Buddy Poppies which are used each year in the annual national sale conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars during the week of Memorial Day to raise funds for relief work.

In U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 81, in New York City, approximately 75,000 are added weekly to the rapidly growing store of poppies whose making, under the direction of the Occupational Therapy Department, began in January. In some of the hospitals the poppy making began still earlier, for many of the patients must work slowly.

The Buddy Poppies are doubly beneficial to these hospital flower-makers. The flower-making not only affords interest and recreation to brighten the long hours, but the men are paid for their work; it also provides them with profitable employment.

Each flower used in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Sale bears the Buddy Poppy label which guarantees it as the actual handwork of disabled and needy ex-service men. This label is formally registered as a V. F. W. copyright in order to prevent infringement and protect the public. "Buddy Poppy" is the name which was given to the flowers by the men themselves at the time of the inception of this method of poppy-making by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The entire proceeds from the sale are devoted to relief of war-disabled and to alleviate conditions of distress among ex-service men and their families occasioned by sickness or unemployment.

The 1927 Sale inaugurates a further development in the relief program by the allotment of a portion of the sale proceeds to the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home for Widows and Orphans of Ex-Servicemen, established two years ago at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. The Home, whose site covers 472 acres, operates on a unique family-group plan, keeping mother and children together in individual households. The addition of a new building recently increased its facilities, and another is now under construction.

President Coolidge annually endorses the Buddy Poppy Sale, as did the two preceding presidents. Professional organizations and trades associations, religious leaders, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and the National American War Mothers also officially commend it.

MEXICAN TRAIN LOOTERS FIGHT FEDERAL FORCE

(By Universal Service)

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—Federal forces under the personal direction of Secretary of War Amaro are reported late today to have caught up with the rebel band that wrecked the Guadalupe-Mexico City express Tuesday night, burning the train and killing more than 100 persons.

The troops overtook the rebels at Yurecuaro, near the scene of the massacre. The fighting is reported to have resulted in favor of the troops, the rebels sustaining heavy losses.

Awaiting official news of the encounter between the federal forces and the rebels the Mexican government tonight established a strict censorship of all cable and telegraph offices.

News of the bandit attack on the express train and the slaughtering of nearly the entire passenger list was, somewhat clarified today by the arrival here of a rebel train bearing a number of the survivors. Among them was Dr. Henry Dock, an American resident of Guadalupe, who stated that there were seven Americans aboard the train and that all were treated with consideration by the rebels. None of the Americans were injured.

"Our train was about 100 miles from Guadalupe when the engine derailed and turned over," said Dr. Dock. "The rebels at once opened fire from both sides of the track, causing indescribable confusion and panic."

"We were travelling within extra heavy escort of 50 soldiers and two officers and had a feeling of safety in spite of recent bandit activities in the vicinity."

"The first volley from the rebels did not do much damage and they probably expected that we would at once surrender. But the soldiers quickly took up positions of vantage in the coaches and returned the fire. All lights were extinguished in the train and we were in darkness while the lively battle between the soldiers and the rebels went on."

"As soon as the soldiers were disposed of by the overwhelming fire of the rebels, the latter boarded the coaches, ordering all the passengers out, announcing they were going to burn the cars. All those who were able to do so scrambled out of the doors and windows, but many who had been injured by rebel bullets remained and were burned to death."

"Two of the soldiers escaped by borrowing clothing from civilian passengers. The rebels made no effort to save those who were unable to leave the train. The seven Americans aboard the train were nearly molested."

The rebels are reported to have secured 200,000 pesos and a large number of mail bags from the express cars.

COLLEGE GIRLS PREFER BRAINS

NEW YORK, April 20.—Big-brained men front and center!

The girls up at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., have an idea that your type is the last word when it comes to matrimony.

The Smith girls' likes and dislikes regarding love and marriage were revealed today by the poll which has been conducted in five of the leading eastern colleges.

In case you've missed the previous results Princeton prefers the old-fashioned girl; Vassar the intellectual man and Yale the desirable girl, who is a combination of the flapper and the antique.

And here's something else for your note book. The girls at Smith wants mates who are well-versed in the art of "petting." Only fifty-seven blacklisted the "Petter."

As for the old-fashioned man—his out. But the fortunate male who has the combined characteristics of the 1927 model and those of days gone by 8-159 are just waiting for the type.

The Smith students had a few comments to make too. There are some of the best.

"The best is none too good in men. I want the best."

"A college girl should marry a college man."

"If more than one girl out of a hundred prefers the social lion I'll eat my hat."

"Personalities, disappointments and values count, not types."

"I'd be a spinster if I objected to marrying a man who had engaged in promiscuous petting."

There you are, boys. If you're big and brainy Smith should be your favorite girl's school.

Newspaper Sacked By Mob Of 500 Men

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Chih., Mex., April 20.—Infuriated by editorial in the Daily "Correo de Chihuahua," attacking the legality of the recent military coup which ousted the Almeida regime, a mob of 500 men and boys sacked the newspaper plant last night and so thoroughly destroyed the equipment that publication has been suspended.

Silvestre Terrazas, editor of the newspaper, was one of the original revolutionists in Chihuahua and served for a time as secretary general under the Villa regime.

FLOOD MENACE HELD INCENTIVE FOR LOW DAM

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Living in constant menace of flood, the people of lower California must be protected by construction of a dam to stem the flood waters of the Colorado river.

Chandler, Los Angeles publisher, said at the White House after a conference with President Coolidge today.

"Diverse political ambitions disagree over the plans of development and Arizona's insistence upon a royalty have combined to delay passage of the legislation," Chandler said, "but it is bound to be passed."

"I favor the construction of a dam, wherever it may be located. I believe the bill would go through without delay if it provided for a low dam, with the understanding that its height would be increased after arrangements had been made for the electric power."

"I believe this should be done. Everybody concedes the necessity of flood control. This would prevent the delay which would be occasioned by the requirement of the pending bill that the work shall not be started until contracts for the power are made. There will be a squabble over the contracts that may take two or three years to adjust. This could be adjusted while a low dam is being built and the height of the dam could then be extended."

Mr. Chandler said he did not mention the Boulder dam legislation to the president. He said he urged the president to accept the plan of the Boulder dam in New Mexico as a summer White House project.

Symphony Win Fight Against Blue Laws

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 21.—After a year's fight against Pennsylvania blue laws, the Pittsburgh Symphony society today appeared to have won an effort to hold symphony concerts on the Sabbath.

Some time ago the society evolved a plan of setting "association membership" committees the holder to concert scheduled for next Sunday. The city solicitor today announced he could see no barrier in the law.

AMBITIOUS AMBROSE

Noted Writer Gives Impressions Of Snyder-Gray 'Sash' Murder

(By Universal Service)
LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 21. — A respected citizen, father of a family, member of a suburban community, generally counted quiet and dependable, suddenly finds himself a confessed murderer.

That was my instant impression of Henry Judd Gray as he walked into the courtroom in his trial in the Supreme Court of Queens county. He had the look of a man who attempts to square his shoulders not only to meet Judge and jury, but to face the realization of what he has done. His step was automatic, much like the tread of a figure motivated by clockwork. He wore the rigid expression of effort not to break down. His eyes, behind thick hornrimmed glasses, had a vague look, as though staring inward, trying to recognize himself.

Not that I am exploiting his statements and those of his friends shortly after his arrest, to the effect that there must be two Henry Judd Grays concealed within the same body, bearing no resemblance to each other. The "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" theory, typifying good and evil in one man has been applied to all humanity for all time. The great joy of a human being in overcoming evil tendencies is the triumph of living.

But if Henry Judd Gray in the past put up any such battle, it was with the weakness of defeat from the start. And that is the leering realization with all its cruel significance which he must face each day in court during the weeks to come.

Sitting at the table marked G. Next to ex-Judge William J. Millard, who will represent him as chief counsel, he seems obviously unequal to the ordeal. He has been plunged from the security of family life into the ominous shadow of untimely death. What probably began as a gaily-decked flirtation has assumed the proportions of a giant nemesis with hands on his throat, clutching breath from it. He does not stir in his chair to look round at the rows of men and women waiting to learn his fate. But it is evident that he cringes from consciousness of all those eyes centered on him. The charge of killing a helpless man with the aid and connivance of that man's wife, he faces with shrunken dismayed panic. Yet he has confessed, branded himself.

The wolf of crime frequently disguises himself in the fleece of a lamb. Henry Judd Gray, however, cannot be placed in this category. He is not clever enough to pose. He must successfully carry on a clandestine love affair. Any number of men not gifted with shrewd minds seem to be masters at planning secret meetings in out-of-the-way places. Adultery has nothing to do with brains.

But the commission of brutal murder by a seemingly respectable citizen who has hitherto lived apparently in accord with the law, is an altogether different matter. How could a man like Henry Judd Gray bring himself to such a deed?

Meeting him on the train or as a traveling salesman at some hotel, anyone would judge him a nice enough fellow, rather flabby as to personality, but harmless at worst. Perhaps this very flabbiness is the answer. Perhaps a criminologist would point out that this is more than a surface quality, that it characterizes the man.

Certainly there were never two faces more diametrically opposite in line and coloring than Ruth Snyder's and Henry Judd Gray's. Studying both in court, I found the contrast, line for line, as apart as the two poles balancing each other. Her jaw is forceful; his, weak. Her mouth is small, the lips thin; his is large, lips full. Her chin projects; his recedes. Under her fair skin, the bone structure shows plainly. His rather sallow skin reveals no suggestion of the skull under the flesh, nor even play or muscle.

Rather than the criminal type, Gray looks, on the contrary, as though he would fear to desper-

BANDIT GANGS HOLD SCREEN AT THE RICHMOND

Tom Mix has dug out of his wardrobe his old blue shirt and is riding through "The Great K & A Train Robbery." Fox Films version of Paul Leicester Ford's gripping story of the same name, as a real Western detective training a bandit gang whose frequent robberies have made life a burden for railway officials. This new drama will show at the Richmond Theater today and tomorrow.

This is a story of hard-riding desperadoes, an agile quickwitted horseman and airtight situations, out of which the detective must fight or race his way to safety. It was filmed in the Royal Gorge, the grandest of all America's scenic spots and the camera has caught all the rugged beauty of the colored location.

Mix on Tony, carrying a girl on his saddle, rides alongside a railway train and lifts her to the observation platform. Then he leaps aboard and is mistaken for a bandit. The girl proves to be the daughter of the president of the road.

With these as the opening scenes the picture drama rushes through a succession of thrilling escapes and pursuits until the detective at the actual scene of the robbery foils the outlaws.

Other film features include "Funnymooners," a Mack Sennet comedy, and "The Mighty Smithy," a screen novelty.

Alleged Prohi Slayers Face Arraignment

Charged with the murder of Joseph Mamola, undercover prohibition agent, at Twelfth and Chancery avenue, on the night of April 12, Joseph Agrella, Stanley Ozeziel, Joe Cambra, and Homer Lusk, will appear before Justice of the Peace John Roth in Richmond this afternoon at 2 o'clock for preliminary arraignment.

According to Agrella, the quartet followed the dry agent from Oakland to "beat him up;" and the fatal shooting occurred by accident during a scuffle. Agrella is alleged to have done the actual shooting. Agrella states that he held animosity toward Mamola because of the part the agent played in the arrest of Agrella's brother for bootlegging some time ago.

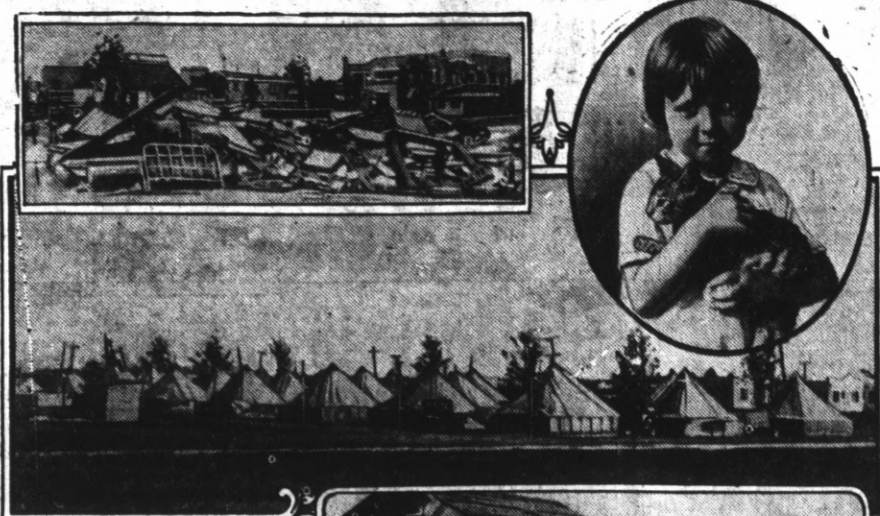

All four have been held in the county jail without bail.

City Planner Talks On Zoning Effects

"Zoning, its Effects and Limitations," formed the topic for a talk made by Dr. Carol Aronovici, Richmond city planner, before the Richmond Real Estate Board yesterday noon at Hotel Carquinez. Aronovici declared that there should be but one business lot to thirty residential lots in a city.

President Harry Plate presided over the luncheon with E. B. Bull acting as chairman of the day.

Florida Grateful as All Traces of Storm Disappear

HUNDREDS of messages of gratitude, ranging from hardly legible letters to engraved resolutions from city governments, are pouring into American Red Cross Headquarters as a result of its Florida hurricane relief work. The organization completed this month the largest relief task it has faced for more than twenty years. A fund of nearly four and a half million dollars was administered during the emergency period and later in helping the $6,000 sufferers to recover from the catastrophe. Eleven communities suffered heavily from the disaster.

be kept in China only so long as it is necessary to protect American lives and property, it is stated. They are not to be used in the joint bombardment of any unfortified Chinese cities unless absolutely necessary it is stated. In fact, it was stated, this government feels that China will emerge from the present state of chaos and be in a position to assume a large measure of self-government, without foreign domination. The trade that will result is highly desirable to this country, it was stated.

This unexpected development and prospective offer of peace failed to relieve the gravity of the situation in the far east. It was stated that our warships are now stripped for action in the Yangtze river opposite Hankow and may be compelled to cooperate with the British there as the danger of anti-foreign rioting becomes imminent.

In fact, the situation at Hankow may upset the entire plan of the United States in dealing with the Chinese situation, it was pointed out.

There are close to 100 Americans there who may be endangered by anti-foreign rioting. Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, commanding the Yangtze river patrol, has six warships there altogether. There is an armada of 42 battle-craft opposite this important town. A large number of ships with refugees aboard also have concentrated there from the upper Yangtze river on their way to Shanghai.

These are to be protected at all costs, it was stated. But no action will be taken in the immediate future to enforce upon Eugene Chen, foreign minister of the so-called Communist branch of the Cantonese, or Nationalists, the demands of this government. In this connection it was learned that the recommendation of American Minister MacMurray, at Peking, to exact sanctions from Chen, has been shelved, if not definitely rejected. This recommendation was received here last Saturday, following a meeting of ministers in Peking, as exclusively reported by Universal Service.

One reason back of this is said to be the conviction by this government that nothing can be gained by enforcing demands on Chen. From Hankow down the Yangtze to Shanghai is reported to be an extremely perilous journey for the hundreds of Americans on refugee ships and river gunboats. Firing from each side of the river in almost continuous and large guns are now employed. The river gunboats are little more than yachts, with no more armor than the refugee ships.

A resolution from one of these, elaborately engraved and mounted in a leather folder, will be placed in the Red Cross museum. It was received by Acting Chairman James L. Fieser from the City Commissioners of Miami, and declares that the organization's work "to relieve the sick, the needy, and the distressed people was indeed a God-send to the thousands of homeless." In a similar resolution, the Fort Lauderdale Chamber of Commerce expresses special appreciation for the organization's keen understanding of the needs of our people."

SHANGHAI, April 21.—In spite of reports that Chiang Kai Shek is not sincere in his activities against the Communists, as charged by Marshal Chang Tso Lin who insists Chiang Kai Shek is still "Red," the latter's forces still continue their secret executions of alleged radical leaders.

Possibility of a mutual arrangement between Chiang Kai Shek and the northern elements is seen in the cessation of fighting at Shanghai. In Shanghai everything remained calm today, American Consul J. S. Jacobs has not received any reply to either of his messages to Yunnan seeking information as to the fate of Mary I. Craig, American missionary nurse kidnapped by bandits more than a week ago.

LONDON, April 21.—Gen. Chiang Kai Shek is reported to be leading an attack against the Communists at Kiu Kiang where, fierce fighting is progressing, according to exchange telegraph advices from Shanghai. Chiang has also ordered his second army to attack the northers at Honan, dissipating reports that he may join forces with Marshal Chang Tso Lin.

PEKING, April 21.—International troops today stormed and battered down the gates of the Soviet embassy compound and took position to protect and defend the legation quarter. The detachment which now occupies the wall of the compound fronting on the United States legation, consists of but 25 soldiers, five each from American, British, French, Italian and Japanese forces in Peking.

The movement was carried out when the American marines commanded by Col. Little, scaled the wall and broke open the compound gate with sledge hammers. The compound has been occupied by Chinese soldiers and police ever since the raid on the Soviet embassy two weeks ago, in which important documents were seized.

BERLIN, April 21.—A Russian-Chinese war was averted by the dictum of Joseph Stalin who risked his overthrow to prevent a break.

This information was given me today in an absolutely reliable source. Immediately after the Chinese raid on the Soviet embassy compound at Peking, a vast majority of the Bolshevik government backed by the whole army command, demanded an immediate invasion of Manchuria. The army command laid before the Bolshevik rulers a complete plan of campaign showing that the invasion could be started at once, the troops already near the border being sufficient to complete it.

Almost single handed Stalin fought against the plan on the ground that Soviet Russia could afford to participate in a war already going on but could never afford to start a war by itself. His word finally carried the day.

ESPEE BUSES WELCOMED BY MOTOR HEAD

(By Universal Service)

SACRAMENTO, April 20.—Although organized motor carriers of California will fight intrusion of the Southern Pacific on territory served by existing motor stage lines, entrance of the railroad into the stage mode of travel is welcomed "as belated recognition of the high favor in which this manner of travel has come to be regarded by the public," Arthur H. Samish, secretary-manager of the Motor Carriers' Association of California, declared today, in commenting on incorporation of the Southern Pacific Motor Transport company.

Samish issued the following statement:

Railroad companies in other sections of the country have long since recognized importance of motor vehicle as a factor in the modern transportation field. At recent conventions of railroad organizations in the east, the railroads have been repeatedly urged to seek dominance in all branches of transportation.

Organized motor carriers of California will undoubtedly welcome the Southern Pacific into the field. It is rather difficult, however, to see where the railroad company will branch out, due to the fact that the state is already thoroughly covered and served in every section by existing stage lines.

California has been a leader in development of motor stages industry ever since its inception here, 15 years ago. It has remained continually in the forefront and is recognized by motor stage men, manufacturers and others as the leading state in this field. California operators have developed a superior equipment and a superior system of service operation that surpasses those of any other section.

Stage lines now reach virtually every community in the state and serve hundreds of towns that have no other means of public transportation. The favor with which the motorstages are regarded by the public is indicated by the fact that last year the stages carried 30,500,000 passengers and did a business amounting to $21,000,000.

Municipal Band Plans Opening On May 5

The Richmond Municipal Band will start its concert season May 5. Due to the fact that the Memorial park bandstand is not expected to be ready for the opening on account of electric lighting difficulties, the occasion will probably be held at the West Side bandstand, William Darrell, manager, announced yesterday.

An extraordinary fine series of programs have been arranged for the summer season, and the band is holding regular rehearsals under the direction of A. L. Hart.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—President Coolidge gets a real "kick" out of the circus. It is his favorite amusement.

He today made that admission to George R. He was told that the 500 performers are from every state and insular possession of the United States.

TILDEN RATES FRENCHMEN GREATEST NET PLAYERS

RENE LACOSTE DECLARED BEST AT COURT GAME

NEW YORK, April 21.—René Lacoste of France is the greatest tennis player in the world. None less than "Big Bill" Tilden is authority for the above statement.

Tilden, who sailed today for Europe to start his comeback in the tennis world, paused for a moment to comment upon some of the leading figures in the net game.

The former tennis champion declared that Lacoste is the greatest player in the world, day in and day out, but stated that Cochet, his countryman, is better at times. In other words, Big Bill pointed out, Lacoste is a great mechanical player but lacks the inspirational heights to which Cochet can rise.

Tilden also had a word of praise for Borotra, whom he described as a great net player, fast on the court and a fine actor. However, Tilden said that the Frenchman's game is not sound, and, once his game is found, he can be beaten.

Asked what style of game the Frenchmen have developed, Tilden stated that they have so perfected their defense that it becomes an attack.

Tilden's party will play team matches in Germany, Holland, Belgium, France, Ireland and England. They will also compete in the French hard court championships at St. Cloud the last of May and the British championships on the turf at Wimbledon the last of June.

Tilden declared that the German racket wielders will have to be watched in the Davis cup play this year. The Germans met France in the semi-finals. Vincent Richards, touring Germany last summer, failed to win a single set from the Germans. Tilden reported himself in good condition, weighing 165 pounds, or 15 pounds more than he tipped the Fairbanks at Forest Hills, Long Island, last September, when he lost the American championship for the first time in seven years.

Rose Bowl Seating Capacity Increased

PASADENA, April 21.—A contract will be let soon to increase the seating capacity of the Rose Bowl from 52,400 to 76,000. It was announced today by Harry Ticknor, president of the Tournament of Roses Association.

The Rose Bowl is the scene of the annual East-West football classic on New Year's day.

Diegel Is Winner Of Freak Wager

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Leo Diegel was $100 richer today as a result of a freak bet and some miraculous golf at the Columbus Country Club, scene of the 1926 open.

Playing a friendly round with some club members, Diegel bet that he would break 70 on the difficult course.

On the tenth tee he had already taken 30 and one of the members said, "Leo, a hundred to one you don't shoot this last nine in 29."

"You're on," said Leo. His in card read 3-4-3-3-4-2-4-3-29. For a total of 68. The card showed an eagle, four birdies and four pars.

Pacific Coast League Results

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—Earl Averill's home run over the right field wall in the first inning with two men on base gave the Seals an early lead today which they held to the finish, winning over the Oaks, 8 to 5.

Brubaker and Arlett also contributed home runs to figure prominently in the scoring of the day.

PORTLAND, April 21.—Jimmy Christian was in rare form today and turned back the Portland haters to win for the Missions, 5 to 1. Christian allowed the Beavers eight scattered hits. Rose led the Mission hitters with two doubles and a single to his credit.

The Score: R. H. E. Missions 5 10 0 Portland 1 8 1 Christian and Whitney; Couch, Ponder and Yelle.

SEATTLE, April 21.—The rejuvenated Hollywood Stars kept up their winning streak by handing the Indians a 5 to 1 beating. Fullerton pitched a steady brand of ball for the southerners.

The Score: R. H. E. Hollywood 5 12 1 Seattle 1 9 3

Bantamweights Start Training

CHICAGO, April 21.—Tony Canzoneri of New York and his conqueror, Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., in the bantamweight championship bout here recently, entered training today for their bouts on promoter Jim Mullen's card May 2.

Taylor will face Ad Agle Goldstein, former champ, in the ten-round wip-up, and Canzoneri is matched with Ray Rychell of Chicago. The show will be Mullen's last indoor endeavor of the season.

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—In a contest enlivened by an attack on Umpire Mal Eason by Frank Brazill, Los Angeles third sacker, Sacramento today defeated the Angels, 9 to 5. It was the third straight defeat for the champions.

The Score: R. H. E. Sacramento 9 10 2 Los Angeles 5 9 5

SANTA FE IS WINNER OVER DOUGALL NINE

The Dougall "Intransitus" were defeated by the Santa Fe nine yesterday afternoon at the Santa Fe diamond by a score of 3 to 1. Members of the "Intransitus" report that bad decisions by the umpire caused the defeat. In the ninth after inning it looked like things were beyond control because all the Dougall nine thought contrary to the "ump's" decisions. A hair breadth escape in the seventh inning saved the encounter for the Carmen. Two runners were caught off base and the final out was the result of a sensational catch by Peacock.

The Santa Fe scores came in the second and sixth innings. In the second after two were out, Handcock, shortstop for the Santa Fe, banged one to short and apparently was out, but in the umpire's decision he was safe. Then Peacock singled over second and added another tally. On the throw in Medo caught the ball and threw to second, preventing another run.

Medo and Anderson twirled the game for the "Intransitus" with all the breaks of the game going against them. Anderson uncorked a wild pitch in the sixth inning with the bases loaded, thus giving the Carmen another tally.

Mickey and Villalobos occupied the mound for the Santa Fe. A kindergarten pitcher could have got by yesterday with all the luck that the Santa Fe pitchers had, according to the members of the Dougall team.

A return game is being sought for the two combatants, with fans offering odds of two to one that it will be played next Wednesday.

COAST LEAGUE UMPIRE BEAT UP BY ANGEL

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Smoldering resentment on the part of Los Angeles ballplayers against the alleged arbitrary attitude of coast league umpires and the indefinite suspension of Manager Marty Krug culminated last afternoon in an attack upon Umpire Mal Eason by third baseman Frank Brazill, who resented a decision favoring Sacramento at third.

Eason, who was choked by Krug yesterday in a disagreement over one of the umpire's rulings, was knocked down by the player with a right to the jaw. Other players of the Sacramento and Los Angeles clubs separated the combatants and Brazill was driven from the field.

It is expected that President Harry Williams, now in San Francisco will mete out a heavy penalty to Brazill.

Manager Krug viewed the episode from the stands as he is now serving the first day of his indefinite suspension.

Titleholder

La Barba May Defend Title Against Vacca

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Negotiations for a flyweight championship bout between Fidel La Barba, title holder, and Johnny Vacca, Boston Italian who beat La Barba twice this year, were started yesterday by Dick Donald, fight promoter.

Donald plans to stage the bout out of doors at Wrigley Park. La Barba and his manager, George Blake, are now in Detroit.

SANNIES MEET CONCORD NINE HERE SUNDAY

A crowd similar in size and genuine enthusiasm to the throngs that once were wont to pack the First street ball park when the famous Richmond Elks ball club played Petaluma, Sebastopol, Merced and a host of other strong semi-pro nines, is expected to be on hand when the Richmond Sannies clash here with the Concord club in a Three C league game.

Manager Phil Jones of the Sannies has gathered together a classy aggregation of shabby tossers and hopes to re-establish Sunday baseball here again after a number of fallow years. Other towns in the Three C league have drawn banner crowds since the circuit was first organized several years ago, and there is no reason Sunday ball won't draw well here again. It is the opinion of many local fans.

The Sannies displayed a great deal of potential strength in defeating the Kuhnsharts of Oakland last Sunday at the Oakland Coast League park in the opening game of the season. In Roland Roberts, former Seal, Manager Jones has one of the most capable twirlers in bush baseball, and the supporting cast is better than average.

In addition to Roberts, the Sannies have Gene Wright, fireman chucker, Wright, who has had tryouts with the Oaks and Kansas City, is a real chucker and figures to stop any team in the Three C league.

New players signed this week by Jones include "Dutch" Kogler, Standard Oil league tosser, and Frank Biggs, formerly with the Houston club of the Texas league. Kogler will augment the pitching staff of Roberts, Wright, Case and Atkins, and should prove valuable to the club.

Biggs is an outfielder and comes here with a good record. He will

Heart Trouble Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter in Oakland, Mrs. W. E. Norton of Stockton was in such great pain due to Heart Trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after many weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.

Owes Her Life to Fong Wan Herbs
Stockton, Calif., March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co.:
I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, which were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live. I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co., and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks, and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

CAL WILL NOT INTERVENE IN LABOR MURDER

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—President Coolidge and the department of justice will refuse any form of intervention to halt the execution of Nicolai Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, under death sentence in Massachusetts on murder charges.

This announcement was made officially by Attorney-General Sargent today. He pronounced the case solely one for the Massachusetts authorities. Clemency appeals have been addressed to Governor Fuller by thousands of sympathizers here and abroad who have joined with noted lawyers in attacking the conviction of the two radicals and the refusal to grant them a new trial.

The president, the department of justice and other federal agencies have received a total of 333 communications on the Sacco-Vanzetti case, Sargent said. For the most part they were protests or pleas for clemency, two hundred and sixteen were postcards from Holland, presumably from labor or radical sympathizers.

To all the reply was sent that federal authorities were without power to act.

"It is not a case in which the federal government or the president has any authority or any right to interfere in any way," said Sargent.

Although department of justice took an interest in the cases in connection with their round-up of aliens for deportation during the Palmer "red scare" seven years ago, the men were tried and convicted on state charges in a state court.

business on the bay. We have gone through the lean years, we have improved the business steadily until the company has over $1,000,000 invested in it.

We do not believe the supervisors will take action that will put a concern of this character out of business. This company owns its property in both counties at the present time, and from soundings that have been made by our engineers, we believe that the location we have selected as the best on the bay, and a bridge at this point can be built for less money than at any other point.

"We are a going concern, we are not in the promotion business, we have been serving the public for a number of years, and it is our hope that we will be permitted to continue in the future."

"All of the facts concerning the proposed bridges should be placed before the supervisors. So far as our company is concerned, there is no question as to our ability to finance such an undertaking."

"We are willing to place all of our cards on the table so that the supervisors may see just what we have in mind, and we are satisfied, that the board will do the right thing."

With the determination of the Richmond San Rafael Ferry to apply for a bridge franchise, it is believed that there will be greater contest than which took place at the time of the granting of the Carquinez bridge.

The attorneys representing the Richmond San Rafael Ferry and Transportation Company are Jacobs, Blankenburg & May of San Francisco, M. R. Jones of San Francisco, and T. H. De Lap of Richmond.

100,000 Homeless As Floods Sweep Mississippi Valley Area

Little Rock has been practically cut off from rail traffic and automobile traffic was suspended three days ago. A food shortage faces the city. Part of the Missouri Pacific railroad bridge over the Arkansas went out today.

The Yazoo valley, which parallels the Mississippi for a hundred miles in the vicinity of Greenville, Miss., is being inundated by a break in the Mississippi levee eighteen miles north.

The flooding of the Yazoo valley is similar to the flooding of the St. Francis valley on the Arkansas shore, where thirty towns and villages were inundated. Between fifteen and twenty cities and towns, including Greenville, the largest with 12,000 population, will be under several feet of water. Other towns of importance in this region are Marysville, Leland and Hollandale.

Refugees will be taken to Memphis and Vicksburg from the Yazoo valley.

At New Orleans storm warnings were ordered displayed.

New Orleans has not felt the full force of the floods. But levees just to the north of New Orleans are already under a terrific strain. They are being storm damaged.

Advice from New Orleans today said that hundreds of laborers were being conscripted and sent by steamboats to work on up river levees and revetments.

Loss of life is increasing. The number of dead scattered through the flood region from Cairo to New Orleans was estimated at not less than 50. The victims dropped off one by one. Thousands of head of livestock have been drowned.

Property damage is increasing every hour. Estimates of losses thus far range from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000 and 250 people may eventually be driven from their homes.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—Two big river packets carrying Mayor William Hale Thompson and a party of 500 Chicago "Lakes to the Gulf" boosters, landed at Memphis today. They viewed first hand flood destruction between Cairo, Ill., where they boarded the boats, and Memphis.

A check for $1,000 for flood relief was handed the mayor of Memphis and he was told more funds are being raised in Chicago.

The trip downstream was precarious. Flooding wreckage had to be avoided and fog at times enveloped the steamers.

Kickman, Ky., viewed from midstream, appeared to be nearly completely under water. The flood had reached the second stories of business houses along the river front. The residential section, however, was partially above water. If the levee before Hickman holds the residence section will be saved from inundation. Many refugees are gathered at Hickman. Below Caruthersville twenty horses and cows were marooned on a narrow strip not more than 100 feet wide. A man and two children were in a tree. Clarence Collier, steamboat pilot, told the mayor's party that a government patrol boat would eventually rescue the tree-top refugees.

Factory tops, smokestacks, barns, houses and sheds protruded on both sides at various points of what was the shoreline.

Collier said the flood is the greatest he has ever experienced. W. R. Roe, general manager of the Louisville and Cincinnati Packet company, said he has spent thirty-five years on the river and that he has never seen the situation as bad.

At some points between here and Cairo the river has a width of twenty-five miles.

Whole towns are inundated. All that can be seen of them from midstream are the roofs. Levees which have proved bulwarks against the annual spring thaw and rains in the Mississippi basin gave no protection against the present onrush of water.

The packet "Cincinnati," on which the mayor is riding, was ordered to slow down to half speed after it passed Hickman, Ky., shortly after noon. The government engineer at Caruthersville, Mo., signalled the captain to dock there and in writing informed him that the backwash from the boat had "gravely endangered the levee line" below Hickman.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—The total number of refugees from the flood waters of the Mississippi river and its tributaries now exceeds 52,000, according to reports received by the Red Cross today.

More than 25,000 of the refugees are in the states west of the Mississippi river and at least 27,000 in four states bordering the river on the east side.

Red cross workers in Kentucky and Tennessee report at least 5000 are homeless. W. R. Buchanan, assistant director of Red Cross disaster relief, stationed at Natiches, Mississippi, last night reported 32,000 in Mississippi and 40,000 in Louisiana.

"Seventy-five per cent of these refugees will require relief."

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Warned that the Mississippi flood will continue to increase in intensity for another 10 days, the war department today redoubled its efforts to provide relief to victims and refugees.

An additional 2,500 tents were ordered rushed to St. Louis from the army reserve depot at Philadelphia. This was in addition to the 5,000 tents shipped from Philadelphia last night.

ORANGES SMALL ORANGES LARGE AT EXPOSITION

Oranges large and oranges small will be "among those present" at the California Valencia Orange show at Anaheim, May 19 to 25. A million oranges will be used for rack display feature exhibits and other purposes it is announced by the committee in charge of this particular phase of the show.

The oranges and other citrus fruits exhibited at the show last year represented a valuation of $10,000 and this year's exhibit will surpass that, it is declared. The Valencias that will be shown at the show this year will average a larger size than those seen last year for, according to measurements of the fruit taken March 1, by pomologists, the fruit was fully four tenths larger than it was at the same time last year and the fruit to be placed on exhibition will reflect that increase in size.
